The medical evidence is clear that whole grains reduce the risks of heart disease, stroke, cancer, diabetes, and obesity. Few foods offer such diverse benefits. Moreover, whole grains contain valuable antioxidants in addition to the B vitamins, magnesium, iron and fiber. MagNoodles Smart Pasta delivers 5 grams of fiber per serving — twice the amount found in conventional pasta.

Ounce for ounce, MagNoodles Smart Pasta has more nutritional value than other leading brands. You get more for your money with MagNoodles.

MagNoodles Smart Pasta was artfully created in 1999 by Aileen Magnotto as a way to improve her family's nutrition.

"When my children were young, I devised this method of sneaking extra nutrition into their meals by simply adding pureed vegetables to my noodle dough. The children loved the sweetness of my homemade pasta as well as the smooth, hearty, whole grain texture," Aileen says.

Her creation was widely acclaimed as she marketed and distributed MagNoodles through the family's grocery store in western Pennsylvania. MagNoodles' popularity convinced Aileen to share her recipes with a premier pasta producer in the USA with family roots in Italy.

MagNoodles are just too good not to share.

How do you MagNoodle?

Meal times are nutritious and easy with MagNoodles Smart Pasta! Simply boil MagNoodles for 8-10 minutes. Toss with olive oil, sautéed vegetables, and/or beans. Add cut up fresh tomatoes and fresh herbs such as basil. Sprinkle with your favorite cheese, either grated or cubed for a creamy taste.

Pasta Salads are deliciously healthy with MagNoodles. Just toss with Italian dressing and add raw, bite size veggies, or simply serve with your favorite pasta sauce or macaroni and cheese recipe.
